ALISSA BAYER • MILK + HONEY

Alissa created milk + honey after completing the MBA program at the University of Texas in 2004 with a focus on entrepreneurship. The original milk + honey spa, located in Austin's downtown 2nd Street District, has been a huge success since it opened its doors in January 2006. A second spa location opened a few years later, closely followed by the launch of SALON by milk + honey, recently named one of the country's top 100 salons by Elle Magazine. A second salon opened in July 2010.

Alissa plans to continue growing the milk + honey brand, bringing the concept to a national audience. She is most proud of the amazing team of over 100 enthusiastic and supportive therapists, managers, spa coordinators, and support staff that rally behind her, making milk + honey such an amazing and unique place to work and to patronize.

Prior to moving to Austin, Alissa worked for The Princeton Review for eight years. She started as an instructor while attending George Washington University where she studied English and Philosophy. Her last role at the company was as Executive Director of Operations in New York, before moving to San Francisco to start a private admissions counseling business. Alissa and her husband Shon, a busy software executive at Enspire Learning, work way too much, but enjoy cooking, running around Town Lake and Shoal Creek with their dog, and practicing yoga to help keep them sane.

In 2008 she started Intent.com, a new trusted wellness destination on the web, to realize her personal intention to connect with others by sharing and listening to each other's stories.

She currently lives in Santa Monica, California, with her husband, Sumant Mandal, and their two daughters, Tara and Leela. She has written two books inspired by them, including 100 Promises to My Baby and 100 Questions from Her Child.

M. MAITLAND DELAND, M.D. • ONCOLOGICS, INC.

M. Maitland DeLand, M.D. is a radiation oncologist, specializing in the treatment of women's and children's cancer. One of the leaders in her field, she is President, Chief Executive Officer, and Owner of OncoLogics, Inc., a group of clinical cancer practices throughout Louisiana and Mississippi.

After Dr. DeLand received her B.S. and M.D. degrees from the University of Florida, she completed a residency and fellowship in Radiation Oncology at Duke University Medical School in North Carolina. She was awarded an American Cancer Society Clinical Fellowship and is board certified in Therapeutic Radiology. She is also a Fellow of the American College of Radiation Oncology, American College of Radiology and American Society for Laser Medicine.

She served on the 2008 Governor's Healthcare Advisory Committee and is a member of the Health Education Authority of Louisiana (HEAL), an appointment by Governor Bobby Jindal. Dr. DeLand is a clinical faculty member of the Tulane School of Medicine in New Orleans, a Tulane Cancer Center Community Advisory Board member, and an American College of Radiology Physician Surveyor for its Radiation Oncology Practice Accreditation Program.

Dr. DeLand, who has dedicated her career to helping her patients and their families lead balanced and rewarding lives, also serves as a member of the Breastcancer.org Professional Advisory Board.

One of Dr. DeLand's major interests is in quality improvement of medical facilities and the establishment of new programs with medical professionals, specialists, and local hospitals. In January 2008, she opened OncoLogics Centre-Women, the first of its kind in Louisiana, dedicated solely to cancer treatment, renewal and wellness for women. The concept is to treat patients for more than just their oncology needs. Therapy and treatment for the physical, mental, psychological and spiritual needs are addressed with the patient as well. With patients active in the healing process, maintaining each patient's identity as a woman and increasing the quality of life during treatment is the main focus of the center. The goal is to have each woman regain her active identity and focus on a balanced life – work, kids, home and self.

Dr. DeLand takes great pride in offering the most advanced cancer treatments. Through her partnership with recognized physicians and an excellent clinical staff, her philosophy of “treating cancer personally” has earned both Dr. DeLand and her staff the reputation of a facility that not only offers the very best in oncology treatment, but a facility that truly cares for all those they serve. “I love the fact that we have extended families to care for loved ones, which is not always true in large communities,” she says. “The support of families and their community of friends and faith are essential to the process of treatment and healing. Just having that kind of support makes a huge difference in outcomes for my patients. Life is short – family and faith are what transcends all medicines.”

Dr. DeLand is also a published children’s author and has written several book series. The Great Katie Kate is a medically based book series aimed at helping children who are diagnosed, or those who have a loved one who has been diagnosed, with serious illnesses. Katie Kate helps to ease a young patient’s worries and fears, and helps them to understand their condition. Information about her books and where they are available is available on her website, DeLandBooks.com.

JULIE JUMONVILLE • UPSPRING BABY

When she’s not wakeboarding or playing in an all-mom rock band, Julie Jumoville is the co-founder and chief innovation officer of UpSpring Baby, which develops creative and convenient solutions to improve health, wellness, and safety for parents and young children.

Julie started the company in 2006 after developing Milkscreen, the first-ever home test to screen breast milk for alcohol. With several patents pending to her credit, Julie has since branched out to other products, including Walking Wings, which help teach babies to walk more naturally without the risk of falling, and Shrinkx Hips, a postpartum belt that makes a measurable change in the size of mom’s hips.

Julie is an active Board Member for the Mother’s Milk Bank in Austin, Texas, was a Profiles in Power winner in 2009, Austin Under 40 Finalist, and serves on AOL’s Small Business Board of Directors.

Julie and her husband Jeff are the parents of Grace, 10, and Reece, 8. Family is key to her success as an entrepreneur and inventor. Jeff will wear a pink shirt and talk about breastfeeding at any time because he believes in Upspring Baby and our mission. Reece offered to invest in UpSpring Baby after we explained that mommy was raising money for the company, and Grace pitched a new product idea called Paranimals that she hopes to develop with her mother one day. UpSpring Baby is truly a family affair.

LORI KARMEL • WE TAKE THE CAKE

Did you hear the story about a woman who walks into a bakery to order a cake for her son's birthday and ends up buying the bakery? If so, you've heard of Lori Karmel!

Lori, the owner of We Take The Cake since 2002, admittedly knew nothing about the bakery business, except that she loved the chocolate cream cheese frosting on the cake she bought for her son. A year later, when she was looking for a business to buy, her business broker told her We Take the Cake was for sale and she bought it!

Prior to buying the then-floundering bakery, Lori was a stay-at-home mom and before that had been in the real estate business in Canada. Little did she know that a move to Florida would be life changing, in more ways than one. Two years later, in November 2004, the Ft. Lauderdale, Florida based business was featured on the Oprah show, when We Take the Cake's Key Lime Bundt Cake was chosen as one of Oprah's "favorite things." The show sparked a tsunami of online orders that knocked out her website's server, and propelled Lori's business into the spotlight.

Its gourmet cakes have been featured on The Food Network's "Challenge," "Unwrapped," and "Road Tasted." InStyle magazine selected We Take the Cake's prize-winning Chocolate Layer Cake as one of "the best mail order cakes." In 2009, the company grossed $1.2 million, with about 25 to 30 percent of earnings coming from online sales. A non-traditional bakery in many ways, cakes are baked "to order" only, focusing on customer service and a customized personal touch.

From filling an order for Jamie Fox's 40th birthday cake in 2007, to designing a high-end wedding cake costing $10,000 or more, to baking a little boy's birthday cake like Lori ordered for her son in 2001, We Take the Cake continues to grow and meet the needs of its consumers. We Take The Cakes' Key Lime Bundt Cake has been featured on the QVC home shopping network. Its gourmet items can be found on-line at www.wetakethecake.com, at Field of Flowers stores, and at Aventura Mall in Aventura, Florida.

Lori is a member of the Entrepreneurs' Organization of South Florida, a global organization made up of business owners grossing a minimum of $1 million annually.

She and her husband, Patrick, and 12-year-old son, Sean, continue to enjoy life in Florida.

AMY LANGER • SÁLO, OBERON, AND NUMBERWORKS

Amy Langer is co-founder of SÁLO, Oberon, and NumberWorks, three Minneapolis-based staffing firms that have grown to over $48 million in revenue and more than 250 employees in less than eight years. SÁLO and its affiliates are among the fastest-growing contract staffing companies in the country and the top performers in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Amy is active in both the Women Presidents' Organization (WPO) and Women Corporate Directors. She also serves as President of the Washburn Center for Children Board and participates on the Lake Country School Board.

Most recently, Amy received the 2010 "Forty Under 40" award from the Minneapolis/St. Paul Business Journal. In 2009, she was named "Enterprising Women of the Year" by Enterprising Women. In 2007 and 2008, Amy earned honors from Entrepreneur Magazine and the Women Presidents' Organization as the #1 and #13 fastest growing woman-led business in the U.S. and Canada, respectively. The National Association of Woman Business Owners (NAWBO) also recognized her as the 2008 "Woman Business Owner of the Year."

SÁLO has joined the ranks of Inc. magazine's "Inc. 500 List of Fastest Growing Private Companies in America" and has made numerous appearances on the Business Journal's "Best Places to Work" list. Further still, Amy and co-founder John Folkestad were named winners of the "2006 Ernst & Young Emerging Business Entrepreneur of the Year Award." SÁLO has also been ranked #3, #13 and #25 on the Business Journal's "Fast 50: Fastest Growing Private Companies" in the past three years.

As managing partner of Strategic Counsel PLC, Cynthia McClain-Hill leads the firm's regulatory, land use and environmental law practices. Public and private sector clients seek her out for her expert handling of public-private partnership issues and effectiveness before governmental agencies.

Throughout her career, Ms. McClain-Hill has served on a variety of significant public sector boards and regulatory commissions, including the California Coastal Commission, the California Fair Political Practices Commission and the CalEPA Environmental Justice Advisory Working Group. In Southern California, she served on the City of Los Angeles' Community Redevelopment Agency Board, the Small and Local Business Advisory Commission and the Los Angeles Mayor's Economic Advisory Council. She is consistently named one of Southern California's "Super Lawyers" in an annual survey of more than 65,000 of her peers, a distinction reserved for the top five percent of California's practicing attorneys.

A respected authority, Ms. McClain-Hill is frequently featured in a wide range of publications and is interviewed regularly by leading television and radio shows. She is 2008-2009 immediate past-president of the National Association of Women Business Owners (NAWBO) and is past president of the Los Angeles chapter (NAWBO-LA). During the past several years, she has been honored repeatedly for her leadership with business and civic organizations. She received the U.S. Small Business Administration's Women in Business Advocate Award, the 2005 Chapter Public Policy Advocate of the Year Award from NAWBO, the first annual Ruth Standish Baldwin Award from the Greater Sacramento Urban League, and the Thurgood Marshall Award from Minorities in Business Magazine. In September 2007, she was featured in ESSENCE Magazine.

Ms. McClain-Hill earned her bachelor's degree in political science from the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) in 1978, and her juris doctorate from UCLA's School of Law three years later. She was admitted to practice law in the State of California in 1981.

ORIT • THE O GROUP

Orit is the "O" of The O Group. And no, she will not reveal her last name unless you are a bank or a customs agent, so you'll have to just enjoy the mystery!

As president and CEO, Orit established The O Group in 1986. It is now one of New York's most successful midsize graphic design firms, one of the few that offers a truly strategic approach. Over the years, she has evolved the company's capabilities and offerings to meet the needs of an ever-changing marketplace. In 2006, after four websites, three locations and too many name variations to count, The O Group celebrated its 20th anniversary and refined its focus: Graphic Design for Luxury Brands.

With a deeply rooted passion for her company and a vision for success, Orit keeps her finger on the pulse of industry trends. She understands the complexities of developing and promoting luxury brands, and her expertise is requested by many, resulting in numerous speaking engagements across the country.

Orit has been recognized for her achievements as an entrepreneur by a variety of associations and organizations. In 2010, the National Association of Women Business Owners New York Chapter (NAWBO-NYC) selected Orit as recipient of its Lifetime Achievement Signature Award. The award is presented annually to honor remarkable businesswomen who have left their unique mark on the business community.

She is the ultimate networker and has a flair for bringing partners, clients and associates together to create brilliant collaborations. Orit's other loves include her son Zackary, husband Paul, retreating to her lake house and designing fabulous gardens, reality TV and of course, Willie, her shih-tzu, who accompanies her to the office every day.

SUSAN PACKARD • CO-FOUNDER, HGTV;
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, MARTIN FRANKEL ASSOCIATES

Susan Packard is co-founder and former chief operating officer of HGTV. Packard held a variety of senior positions at Scripps Networks Interactive, (NYSE: SNI), the leading developer of lifestyle-oriented content for television and the Internet. The company's media portfolio includes popular lifestyle television brands HGTV, Food Network, DIY Network, Cooking Channel, country music network Great American Country (GAC) and the Travel Channel.

Most recently, Packard served as President, Brand Outreach, responsible for aligning corporate citizenship activities. She has also served as president of Scripps Networks New Ventures, where she oversaw the development and launch of DIY Network, Fine Living Network, and interactive platforms. Before that, she was president of worldwide distribution for the Scripps cable brands.

In 1980, Susan began her cable career at HBO then moved to NBC to help found CNBC. In 1994 she joined HGTV and became Chief Operating Officer in 1995. Under Packard's helm, HGTV became one of the fastest growing cable networks in television history. Today, HGTV is available in more than 99 million U.S. homes and distributed in 175 countries and territories. Susan helped to build Scripps Networks to a market value of over $7 billion.

On July 1, 2010, Susan joined the firm of Martin Frankel Associates (MFA), an advisory group to global business leaders.

Susan has been recognized by industry peers, colleagues, and employees as an innovator, pioneer, role model and mentor. She received the Woman of the Year award by Women in Cable & Telecommunications (WICT) and was profiled in Modern Visionaries, a book chronicling the contributions of women to the cable and telecommunications industry. Contemporary Economics, a high school textbook, profiled her as an entrepreneur in the field of media specialization. Cablevision magazine cited her as one of "12 Most Powerful Women in Cable," and CableWorld magazine has repeatedly honored her among "The Most Influential Women in Cable." Susan is the recipient of the YWCA Tribute to Women Award, and in 2008, she was inducted into the Cable Center Hall of Fame. In 2010, she was admitted to The Committee of 200, a select group of global women executives dedicated to inspiring and supporting future women leaders in business.

Packard was the first woman elected to serve on the board of directors of Churchill Downs, Inc. (the Kentucky Derby) in 2004. She served on the board for two terms.

Susan is active in business and community affairs at the national and local levels. She was elected to the Scripps Howard Foundation's Board of Trustees in 2001 and served for six years. She has served on the University of Tennessee's College of Communication's Board of Advisors. In 2004, she was named a College of Arts and Sciences Outstanding Alumni at Michigan State University. Susan Packard lives in Knoxville, Tennessee, with her husband and son.

SHERI SCHMELZER • JIBBITZ FOUNDER

Sheri Schmelzer is the founder of Jibbitz, which was launched on August 9, 2006, and acquired by Crocs one year later. Jibbitz, the shoe charms she developed, were named from a shortened version of Flibertyjibbit, a nickname Sheri was given by her husband years ago.

After the acquisition, Sheri retained the title of Chief Design Officer, with the responsibility of overseeing all of the Jibbitz Designs, including all licensed product.

On August 9th, 2008, Sheri and her husband Rich retired and are devoting themselves to raising their children. Both the launch of Jibbitz and their retirement coincided with their wedding anniversary, which in 2010 marked 14 years together.

Their children include two daughters, Alexandra, 12, and Julian, 10, and a son Riley, who is eight. Sheri grew up in Florida and graduated from Lake Highland Preparatory School, then went on to earn a degree in childhood development from Arizona State University. She and her family have made their home in Boulder, Colorado, for the past 20 years.

KENDRA SCOTT • KENDRA SCOTT JEWELRY

In 2002, Kendra Scott combined her love for fashion with her creative talents and began her own line of jewelry. Today, the Austin based designs of Kendra Scott Jewelry have found a home in her serene and sophisticated New York city showroom and can be found at top retailers such as Lord & Taylor, Henri Bendel and specialty boutiques around the globe. The line garners the attention of such magazines as In Style, O The Oprah Magazine, Town and Country, Glamour and Life & Style, all of whom regularly feature Kendra Scott Jewelry.

As Kendra continues to grow her company, she remains committed to the three philosophies that continue to direct its course: family, fashion and philanthropy. Kendra's "family first" philosophy has always been a core value for her growing company. The birth of her two sons during the initial stages of her business influenced Kendra in creating a lifestyle company that is both flexible and fun.

The heart of Kendra Scott's business philosophy is in giving back to her community. Kendra Scott maintains her position on the board of LifeWorks, a non-profit that provides services to homeless and at-risk youth and their families, in Austin, Texas. Kendra is also a co-founder and co-chair of LEAP (LifeWorks Entrepreneurs & Professionals), a fundraising and networking organization that connects individuals interested in making a positive impact on the lives of those in need. With her enthusiasm and passion, Kendra is a keynote speaker on the national level for The American Heart Association's Go Red Campaign for Women and is very involved with Dress for Success.

CNN featured Sandra as an American Hero for her role in mobilizing much-needed resources for the girls' high school basketball team of Pass Christian, Mississippi, in the wake of the Hurricane Katrina devastation.

Sandra is the recipient of numerous business awards including Excellence in Leadership from the Euro-American Women's Council in Athens, Greece; the Entrepreneur Star Award from Microsoft; the Woman Advocate of the Year Award from the Women's Regional Publishing Association; Women Advocate of the Year from Enterprising Women Magazine, and most recently, the Distinguished Women's Award from Northwood University.

Sandra is the author of Relationship Networking: The Art of Turning Contacts Into Connections and is featured in Chicken Soup for the Entrepreneur's Soul, which showcases some of the top entrepreneurs in North America. The inspiring and motivational movie she produced, The GLOW Project, features prominent corporate achievers and successful entrepreneurs who share how they manifest, unleash and expand GLOW to achieve incredible successes (www.glowproject.org).

Central to Sandra's commitment to serving others is the eWomenNetwork Foundation, a registered 501(c)(3) non-profit that supports the financial and emotional health of women and children in need. Since its inception in 2000, the Foundation has awarded hundreds of thousands of dollars in cash grants, in-kind donations and support to women's nonprofit organizations and emerging female leaders of tomorrow.

Sandra holds a Master of Science degree in Organization Development from American University in Washington, D.C., and a two-year post-graduate certification in "Organization and Systems Development," from the prestigious Gestalt Institute.

Sandra is married and has two children.
